M&A Workshop 14.11.2018 10:00-14:00

As members of HSBC's Financing & Advisory Products team you are evaluating potential bolt-on acquisitions for a US conglomerate. You will perform a valuation of the targets and evaluate them in light of the acquiring company's most important KPIs (thereby also taking the effect of synergies into account). You will be asked to discuss how the most promising deal structures should look like and what potential risks for executing the projects could be. In addition to your M&A advise you will provide your client with key acquisition financing considerations as well as any implications the deals might have on its overall financing strategy.
